BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 15.—If, in his first message to the next congress, our newly elected president—whoever he may be—should come right out and advocate the following things:

First—Taking steps to collect, or at least to try to collect, what those defaulting debtor nations owe us; second—instructing the proper departments promptly to deport all aliens illegally admitted to this country and therefore here in decountry and therefore here in de-fiance of our immigration laws; third—anthorizing immediate action so that all unnaturalized Communists and other foreign-born enemies of the government which shelters them—including especially such of these as are on federal relief rolls or hold private jobs to the exclusion of citizens—shall be put out of this country and kept out.

Well, if he did do those very things, there wouldn't be, as Adam Bede once said, a dry throat left among the kind of Americans I trot around with.

8 LOCAL FILM FIRMS SUED IN U. S. COURT

Violation of Anti-Trust Laws Charged to Large Picture Distributors.

Eight moving picture distribution agencies along Atlanta's film row were charged in United States district court in Atlanta yesterday with violations of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws.

The charge was made by Broadway Theater, Inc., a motion picture theater of Ybor City, a subdivision of Tampa, the theater management charging it is denied an opportunity to rent films on a parity with other exhibitors in Florida.

exhibitors in Florida.

The suit was brought in Atlanta because this city is southern head-quarters for all large distributors. Those named were Vitagraph, Inc., Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, Paramount Pictures Distributing Company, Inc., Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation, United £rtists Corporation, Columbia Pictures Corporation, Universal Film Exchanges, Inc., R. K. O. Distributing Corporation, and E. J. Sparks and Frank Rogers. Frank Rogers.

ELLSWORTH, Maine, Oct. 15.—

(P)—A tame 350-pound bear that for 11 years had accepted the petting of children and adults, turned killer today and took the lives of two men.

"Pete," female black bear, was shot and killed as she stood over the body of one of her victims, blood on her claws and teeth. Hundreds of times, through its cage bars, the same animal had been fed peanuts and candy by fourists traveling the Bangor-Ellsworth road.

Student Aided by Depression, Arkansas University Head Says

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 15.—
(AP)—Dr. J. C. Futrall, University of Arkansas president, today compared pre-depression college students with those of the present day and found for the latter.

"They still like to have their fun and to carry on their activities outside the classrooms," said the university head, speaking from years of observing students.

"But they do not engage in the wild behavior, in the drinking and carousing and in the waste of precious time as did some of their predecessors."

Dr. Futrall, addressing the Arkansas Federation of Women's Clubs, credited the depression with making students more serious-minded and eager for knowledge.

"We find passages of various authors deploring the worthlessness, lack of purpose, immorality and other faults of the rising generation," he said.

Dr. Futrall said concern has developed by "the attempt on the part of various organizations to exploit young communistic, radical, or some variety of pink or red" and added "so far, their efforts have met with little said.

Meanwhile, I am not disapointed and will resume my schedule as soon as the China Clipper arrives here, which will now be at least 24 hours late. A demonstration that a trip around the world in less than three around the world in less than three weeks is not a stunt was the keynote of the original plan, and the dirigible Hindenburg, the Imperial Airways and the Dollar line kept the faith and their schedules to a dot.

The last leg of my flight over Imperial Airways was a complete success. I thought that American aviation which proves to be the clue that brings them to justice.

This was particularly true in the famous Snyder-Gray tragedy. On March 20, 1927, Albert Snyder was found murdered in his cozy home in Queens Village, Long Island. His head was beaten as with some blunt instrument. Several feet of picture wire was drawn around his neck. A nankin had drawn around his neck. A napkin had been forced down his throat and there were finger nail scratches on his face and neck.

His wife. Ruth, was discovered bound, in the hallway, in a semi-conscious condition. She told the police that a big, burly fellow had forced his way into the house, had beaten and tied her. When Snyder's body was found the doctors estimated he had been dead for six hours. Mrs. Snyder claimed that she had been unconscious for that period of time.

The chief glory for solving the mystery goes to Police Commissioner George McLaughlin, of New York. He was the directing spirit of the investigation, but the actual work was done by Inspectors Coughlin, Carey, Leach and Gallagher. In addition, 25 of the best detectives on the force combed the village and the surrounding country for a clue.

If the members of the privy council, which includes all cabinet officials, felt sufficiently opposed to a marriage between King Edward and Mrs. Simpson, it was said here, the chances are great that the cabinet would resign and carry the issue to the people. A general election would then be held, and, if the cabinet were returned to power, it would be accepted as an unmistakable expression of the disapproval of the king's subjects. But if King Edward adopted the incredible course of persisting in the face of such opposition, there would be no way under existing law of preventing Mrs. Simpson from becoming gueen, and that is if she were a Roman Catholic. According to the act of settlement of 1701, "a person who shall profess the Popish religion, or shall marry a Papist, shall be excluded and the forever incapable to inherit, possess or enjoy the crown and governed as an unmistakable expression of the disability were dead."

QUIET A complete quiet has suddenly enveloped the federally-endowed consumer co-operative idea here. The reason is that certain eminent producer co-op leaders are coming around to the conclusion that a centralized national bureaucratic system of consumer co-ops is an entirely different thing from what they have been working for. The theory is developing among them that the co-op system must work up on a sound economic basis and not be handed down by decree. For one thing, people must be trained to handle the system; for another, there is the farm price question.

I knew something of the problems of Detroit in the depression years, not only from Frank Murphy, but also from my brother-in-law who was him city controller.

CITY USED EVERY PENNY FOR RELIEF OF THOUSANDS

We all knew that during those years the government of this city pared its operating expenses to the bone, using every penny it could scrape together for the relief of thorsands of men and women who were literally on the verge of starvation. When money had to be raised, the mayor and controller would go to private bankers in New York where they were compelled to pay very high interest rates for further loans. By the spring of 1933 the city could borrow no more from private sources and the government of the state of Michigan was unable 20 render any substantial help.

I recite these facts because while the problem of human relief in Detroit was on of the most difficult in the nation, yet there were thousands of other municipalities faced with the same kind of crisis.

WE NEXT RESTORED PURCHASING POWER

Following the arresting of the immediate crisis, our next step was to restore the purchasing power of the people themselves. I need not recite to you the many steps we took. You are as familiar with them as I am. In great part you are glad today, I am sure, that we took these steps.

In the restoration of purchasing power there is one element often overlooked by those who dwell in great industrial cities—the building up of the prices which farmers obtain for their farm products.

DANVILLE, III., Oct. 15 .- (AP)-Text of rear platform talk given by Governor Alfred M. Landon here tonight:

night:

The people of Illinois, like those in their neighbor states realize, they have much at stake in the approaching election. The kind of government we are going to have for the next four years, however, is of greater importance than many administration leaders would have us believe. Is it to be a government guaranteeing the rights of the individual, or will it be one patterned after those that have taken away the last yestige of personal liberty?

The President boasts that he has

The President boasts that he has preserved our system of private enterprise. He points to the recovery of the last three and one half years as justification of his policies, which, he claims do not threaten the American form of government.

I say let's look at the record. What recovery we have had has come since the supreme court gave the country a real breathing spell from the President's must legislation, based on the doctrine of regimented business, industry and agriculture. These policies have kept twenty million on the relief rolls and eleven millions in the mire of unemployment. This, I remind you, is in the face of the squandering of many billions of our money.

PROPAGANDA CHARGED TO NEW DEALERS.

The President is giving lip service to our system of free enterprise, while spokesmen for his administration flood the country with books, speeches, and other propaganda. All these advocate the doctrine of scarcity, of regimentation of all phases of our life by an all-powerful federal government at Washington. These prophets of a central government are insidiously attacking the doctrine of home rule and of an independent judiciary. They would make of congress merely a body to ratify the arbitrary actions of a one man super government.

If Mr. Roosevelt really is sincere in his desire to preserve and defend the constitution of the United States, let him in no uncertain terms.

fend the constitution of the United States, let him in no uncertain terms repudiate those who speak for his administration. Let him also repudiate his "horse and buggy interview in which he prophesied disaster if the industry was permitted to remain free from coercive interference if the farmer is once more made lord of his own farm.

We have every reason to believe, until he assures us otherwise, that in his heart he longs for a planned economy. In 1932 he rendered lip service to the merit system but on election placed his head spoilsman in charge of the higgest federal grabbag in history. He is still rendering this lip service and the politicians still parcel out the jobs.

It is for these reasons that I insist the American people are entitled to a frank and non-evasive answer.

Disaster relief and the accomplishments of the Red Cross in aiding Gainesville after an April tornado which wrecked part of the city and took more than 200 lives, occupied delegates to a regional Red Cross conference here today.

With rehabilitation work still in progress in the city, the Red Cross workers assembled at the Presbyterian church for a series of talks. Judge A. C. Wheeler presided. He was introduced by Walton Jackson, chairman of the Hall county chapter.

A pageant, depicting the work of the Red Cross following various disasters, was presented during the exercises, a large cast taking part.

Speakers during the morning session included Rev. R. L. Russell, pastor of the First Methodist church; William Carl Hunt, assistant manager, eastern area, American Red Cross; Mrs. Mildred Shelton Brooke, field representative; Marion Symmes, member of the board of directors. Augusta chapter; Mrs. Annette McDonald Suarez, Cuthbert; Pat Rice Jr., chairman of the membership committee, Augusta chapter; and B. Rhett Turnipseed, chairman of the first aid committee, Gainesville.

An inspection tour of the rehabilitated area of the city was a major event on the afternoon program, which also incorporated addresses by James Dahlia Society of Georgia invites all dahlia enthusiasts throughout the state to visit the dahlia variety test garden at Experiment, near here, next Sunday. The gates will be opened to the public free of charge at 2 o'clock. Although there will be no set program, Dr. H. P. Stuckey, director of the station, and H. L. Cochran, horticulturist actively in charge of the garden, together with E. R. Ayo, president of the dahlia society, and David D. Long and his committee will be present to discuss the technicalities and the variations in the types of varieties grown in the garden.

The display of dahlias at Experiment is not intended to be a dahlia show, it is stated, but its purpose is educational in that the plants are grown in an open plot where they endure the vicissitudes of weather experienced during the past summer. Some have not done so well, while many of the newest rare varieties have flourished, showing that they are well suited to newest rare varieties have flourished, showing that they are well suited to the climatic conditions in Georgia, the society leaders point out.

In the test field there are 130 varieties which include a large number of the giants of the showroom and which have won in various dahlia shows from coast to coast. Approximately one-third of the varieties are forthcoming seedlings which, in the next year or two, will take the place as the new varieties in the dahlia world.

STAND ON NEUTRALITY

BRUSSELS. Oct. 15.—(P)—Official circles tonight interpreted the "neutrality" speech of King Leopold as meaning that Belgium would stand alone in the defense of her frontiers and would abrogate all pacts pledging her to go to the military aid of other nations.

1. Withdraw from the French mutual assistance pact of 1920.
2. Withdraw from the Locarnopact. (The other signatories are Germany, Italy, Britain and France.)
The diplomatic consensus was that such actions would return Belgium to her pre-war neutrality stand, with added military defense for the country's German frontiers.
Belgium must not work for a "vietorious war." the king told the cabinet, but rather only to prevent her fields again being inundated with foreign armies.

Doesn't Want War.

The precarious geographical location of the country, King Leopold said, between France and Germany, "compels us to maintain our military machine so as to dissuade any of our neighbors from using our territory to attack another state."

The main desire of King Leopold, informed sources said, was that Belgium not be called upon to send her troops to aid any foreign nation invaded by another.

"We must aim absolutely at placing ourselves outside the conflicts of our neighbors." the king said, urging the day of bitter fighting.

Mercolized Wax Helps Nature Beautify Skin

Mercolized Wax is a natural skin beau tifier. It hastens Nature's skin shedding tifier. It hastens Nature's skin shedding by flaking off the dingy, discolored surface skin. The old skin comes off so gradually you can not detect the actual process. Surface blemishes of course disappear. The perfectly natural beauty of the under skin is then revealed in all its clear, smooth, glorious loveliness. Bring out the hidden beauty of your skin with Mercolized Wax.

French Government Bestows Decoration on Mlle. Groleau At Scout Conference

By Sally Forth.

WELL deserved was the high honor bestowed upon Mademoiselle Madeleine Groleau last evening by the French government when she was given the decoration of Officer of the Academy. The award was made in the name of France's minister of national education by Charles Loridans, French consul in Atlanta, at the meeting of the Alliance Francaise held at the home of former Governor John M. Slaton and Mrs. Slaton.

In presenting the decoration Mr. Loridans explained that the honorary distinction was created by Napoleon I in 1808 as a reward to those who render distinguished service to France through literature, science and arts. There is no individual of Sally's wide acquaintance who has rendered any greater service through this manner to her native country than Mademoiselle Groleau.

Mademoiselle Groleau was born in Paris, where she was educated. She graduated from the Ecole Sophie Germain and received degrees from the Academie de Paris. For two years she taught in Paris grammar schools, after which she taught French in England and Scotland.

Because of her excellent command of the English language Mademoiselle Groleau was sought by the French government to serve as interpreter for American and French troops during the World War. Although 18 years have passed since that conflict Mademoiselle Groleau has never ceased to be interested in the welfare of America's disabled war veterans. As a member of the Atlanta Overseas League she visits frequently Veterans' Hospital No. 48, where she is be-loved and highly esteemed by those still suffering from the effects of that world fight.

out-and-out stab, and his redouble on top of it was no less than horrible. Of course South's double was optimistic, but infinitely sounder than West's redouble. The only explanation possible for West's bidding was that he correctly figured that the defenders would present him with one or two tricks in the play. If this was his theory, I must say that it turned out beautifully.

North opened the queen of hearts, and South corectly unblocked by putting up the king. West allowed this tohol, but won the heart continuation with the ace. Count of tricks must have left West with a hollow feeling, because he certainly could not count past seven. I must say, however, that he went about snaffling the other two tricks in a workmanlike fashion. He led a spade to dummy's ace and pushed the queen of diamonds through South. Evidently West knew that South habitually covered every honor in sight, because he did it again this time, and West's blank in the correct of the count of the count of the count of the certainly could not count past seven. my's ace and pushed the queen of diamonds through South. Evidently West knew that South habitually covered every honor in sight, because he did it again this time, and West's blank ace killed the king. Then West cashed his king of spades and led the ace, king and queen of clubs, after which he exited with a spade. South won and cashed his good club, but with nothing left except the 10-9-4 of diamonds, had to return the ten spot. Declarer calmly allowed him to win this trick, and South then was forced to concede the last two tricks by leading up to dummy's diamond tenace.

Obviously, the contract would have been defeated two tricks if South correctly had waited to cover the second diamond honor. There was no point whatever in covering the queen.

That explanation is good for a day or two, but when the scales persist in registering a slight gain, you are beading toward embonpoint, even though the increase is as little as a fraction of a pound per week. Give yourself time and you'll be sorry you didn't take your weight warning seriously.

Ina Claire, a favorite figure of the stage, believes in limiting the initial gain to three pounds. Anyone, she told Ursula Parrot recently in an interview, can lose three pounds, but it is appalling to think of losing 30 pounds. She never permits herself to gain more than three pounds without doing something about it, recommending a healthful diet of fruits and vegetables as an effective means of dealing with as an effective means of dealing with Wonder if there has ever been Wonder if there has ever been a time in the world's history when parents had so many difficulties in rearing their daughters. To begin with, homelife isn't what it used to be. With father's going out to business before day and returning after dark, with the children at school and with mama released from the kitchen and turned out on the town, there are precious few hours of 24 when the family is few hours of 24 when the family is together. At the evening meal, per-haps, but this is a short time at best. On school nights the children have home work, on free nights they are racing through dinner to get to the movies, and parents have other irons in fires that are not home-fires.

But this isn't the worst of it. Discipline is taboo in the modern family set-up. Mother learns at clubs and parent-teacher meetings that her children need her guidance but not her goading. Father is so engrossed in his business that he must leave those matters largely in mother's hands. The children are breathing result in the air. It are breathing revolt in the air. It doesn't take them long to learn that according to modern thought parents are not gods but frail, feeble human beings; that children are entitled to do their own thinking, lead their own lives, go their own gaits.

Not all parents are cagey enough to keep the halters on the heads of young hopefuls with home-life at the lowest ebb, with respect for authority and reverence for age at the zero hour. Many parents are puzzled and addled and they are appealing for expert advice of any that claim to know the

A few years ago at a Parent Education Institute a public school director told the story of a 15-year-old girl's approaching her, asking how she should deal with a boy who kissed her against her will. The director naturally suggested to the young miss that she should conduct young miss that she should conduct with her mother. To which came the prompt rejoinder: "I can't do that; mother doesn't even know I kiss the boys."

Of course everybody knows the an sequently there were dates on the sly, moonlight rides, roadside parkings, petting and necking parties, without benefit of chaperonage.

Who doesn't pity the poor parents who were brought up in the school of mama-knows-besth, papapays-the-bills: therefore what-they pays-the-bills; therefore what-they-say-mustgo then find themselves confronted with a civil war when they try to put that policy over on their young rebels? That's "old stuft" snort the children who are going to the movies and gulping the glamour of the silver screen, racing about in automobiles; dancing all night 'till the bread daylight and ending up the broad daylight, and ending up

Perhaps it is old stuff but there is some more old stuff that never goes out of style. My Day ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

PONTIAC, Ill., Wednesday.- I was just about to step into bed about midnight last night when I heard a knock at my door. I opened it a crack. Marvin McIntyre, assistant secretary to the president, stood there and asked, "Are you still dressed?" "No, I'm just about to get into bed," I replied.

Reproachfully and sadly, but quite hopelessly, he remarked, "There's tremendous crowd outside and they are calling for you."

I doubted Mr. McIntyre's varacity, because I remembered a past ex perience when the President couldn't appear and I was sent out to the back platform to explain. But I couldn't even get a chance to speak because of the cries of "Get the President out here!" "We want the President!"

It is one thing to go out with the President and have everyone wel come you kindly, but quite another thing to meet a disappointed group of people who have no desire to see anyone but the President! I was relieved that I could truthfully say: "The back platform is out of the

I am reading Fannie Hurst's book, "Great Laughter," and though I have only started it, the character of Gregrannie, a dominating old woman with many fine qualities, is tremendously interesting.

This morning we left the train in St. Louis, where the President dedicated the new memorial to the World War dead. Then we drove down along the riverfront through some of the old parts of the city where a memorial highway is planned. I hope the old cathedral will not be destroyed. It is, I think, the oldest we saw in St. Louis. Fine new buildings are all very well, but when beauty is combined with age, I think we should have interest enough in our traditions to preserve some thing of the past.

Also overlooking the water is an old house called "The Old Rock House." It was built, I imagine, in the early days out of native rock. That, too, is very interesting, and I hope it can be preserved, for we should have some samples, at least, of the type of houses those early

I wish I could get over worrying about what the police horses may do to the crowds in a moment of excitement. Both the men and the horses are marvelously trained, but it always seems incredible to me that a horse can stand so much noise and so many people around him without forgetting his manners. I tremble for the children, and am glad when the crowds stop pressing forward and the horses can stand

Konemann's Illness Worries Alex--Bulldogs in Great Form

EN ROUTE DURHAM WITH GEORGIA TECH, Oct. 15. Georgia Tech's hospital unit, which left Atlanta tonight for the war zone at Durham, saw Dutch Konemann bedded down with George Tonsilitis, the well-known Grik. (No relation to the one who refused to salute the flag.)

"I never slept with a more uncomfortable guy in all my life," said Dutch Konemann. "I'm going to try and get him assigned to the room with one of the faculty members by tomorrow.

They say it is delightful to wake up in Carolina. But I don't know. On my previous visits there with football teams the awakening has been one vividly remindful of the fact that too many cigarets, talk and late hours on the train will leave one with a fuzzy head and a mournful eye.

The honeysuckle does not twine about the visiting Pullman cars and so one misses the delight which the citizen of the state has as his own when he awakens in his native state of

There were others, notably the members of the Knee Kap Klan, Lindsey, Cushing and a few others.

They may be well enough to play. But the important thing to remember is that even if they do play they will not have practiced during the week. Pardon me, while I let the stretcher bearers pass.

TO DEFEAT DUKE IN HARD BATTLE

Vanderbilt Coach Picks Alabama, Kentucky, L.S.U., Chattanooga.

Head Football Coach, Vanderbilt

University.

NASHVILLE. Tenn. Oct. 15.—
Saturday is "intersectional day" for southern football with no less than eight teams going outside their conferences for games.

Three elevens from Dixie invade New York city, Tulane taking on Colgate, Virginia Military Institute going against Columbia and North Carolina opposing New York University.

No accurate comparison can be made between the brands of football as played in the south and east, because the teams from the south cannot be called representative. That is, Tulane is not the strongest outfit in the Southeastern conference and certhe Southeastern conference and cer-tainly V. M. I. and North Carolina are not the best in the Southern. The east should win all three games. AUBURN-DETROIT.

third hard game in a row, playing the University of Detroit. On the strength of its varsity alone, Auburn has one of the very best teams in the south. The main weakness is reserves and I doubt if the hard-fought game with Tennessee will do the Plainsmen any good, not to mention the trip to Detroit. The game rates a tossup.

the trip to Detroit. The game rates a tossup.

Rice Institute comes out of the southwest to Athens to meet Georgia and should win easily. The Buildogs were trounced 47.7 by Louisana State last week and hardly can recover so soon from such a defeat.

Vanderbilt engages Southern Methodist at Dallas. It looks as though both teams may be at a disadvantage. The Mustangs are back from a tiresome trip to New York, where they thoroughly outplayed Fordham only to lose, 6-0, on an intercepted pass. The lose, 6-0, on an intercepted pass. The Vanderbilt team was upset by little Southwestern last week and it is a serious question how this will affect the team.

The University of Texas will prove too much for Baylor, but Texas Christian and the Texas Aggies bump together in a slam-bang battle at College Station. The Aggies have been a bit disappointing so far, but if they can stop the touchdown passes of Sammy Baugh they have a chance to win

Sammy Baugh they have a chance to win.

TECH PICKED.

Perhaps the top game to be played in the south, and easily the ace attraction of the Atlantic seaboard, is Duke against Georgia Tech at Durham. Wallace Wade's eleven opened with a 6-0 victory over Colgate and since then has been coasting. They should be primed for the Jackets. Too, a victory probably would mean a clean slate for the scason.

Tech, however, qualifies as the most powerful and versatile squad in the south, demonstrating its true strength in slaughtering Kentucky, 34-0. I pick the Jackets to beat Duke, with the mighty Konemann a probable star.

Kentucky should be able to turn back Washington and Lee from the Southern conference. L. S. U. is a heavy favorite over Mississippi.

Alabama, victor over Mississippi State and a threat for the Big Thirteen title, should not take Tennessee too lightly. Major Neyland has two elevens of equal strength and, while the Tide will be favored by a comfortable margin, one never can tell when juniors and sophomores will have a great day.

"Mohn Paul Tipper, a halfback, is to fortable margin, one never can tell when juniors and sophomores will have a great day.

In conclusion, I make the prediction that the southwestern team that defeated Vanderbilt last Saturday will lose to Chattanooga. It is a virtual impossibility for a group of cleven boys to be keyed to the heights two weeks in succession.

"Mell, Jack," said Meagher, "I guess I'll be seeing you in Atlanta to leave him and Stewart and Smith at home. That hurts us offensively," Meagher continued.

The Regal Shoe Store is the only exclusive Men's Shoe Store in Atlanta doing business 36 years ago and today, and to show our appreciation of your loyal patronage and to keep in step with the growth of Atlanta, we are opening the finest and most modern equipped Men's Shoe Shop in the South, on the most prominent corner in Atlanta-Peachtree Street and Auburn Avenue. Mr. Clark Howell, Publisher of The Constitution, complimented us on the wonderful record we have made in Atlanta since we started business here 36 years ago, and told us that the Regal Shoe announcement, published in his newspaper on October 12, 1900, was the first full page shoe ad ever run in Atlanta. We have this old page from The Constitution in our files and it proves conclusively that our Style Policy is the same today as it was 36 years ago. At the turn of the Century, we were reproducing the finest models made by the famous Custom Bootmakers, of London, Paris and New York. And today, we are reproducing in our factory the exclusive Originals designed by Wylie & Peterson, the outstanding Custom Bootmakers of New York. We are using the identical Leathers and the same Lasts, and showing both Wylie & Peterson's expensive Originals and the Regal Reproductions, side by side, in the windows of our new Atlanta store.

You are cordially invited to come in and look over our new home in Atlanta and let us help you select your new Fall shoe wardrobe from the greatest variety of new Custom Styles, Lasts, Leathers and Patterns that we have ever presented during our 36 years in Atlanta.

Tough To Be on Spot EveryWeek'--Meagher

Dapper Jack Meagher, coach of the Auburn Tigers, who worked out at Ponce de Leon park yesterday and departed last night for Detroit, says he knows now how it feels to be a fugitive.

"It's pretty tough being on the spot," he said. "Each week the guns are trained on you. Now, last year the boys underrated us somewhat and everything was fine. This year everything is different. Every-what and everything was fine. This body is gunning for us."

Coach Meagher (pronounced Marr) felt pretty good about the Tigers' chances against the University of Detroit Saturday.

"It's going to be tough," he said. Detroit always throws a lot of passes. That's Gus' (Gus Dorais) style of attack. He schools his boys to throw the ball from their ear. That is to say, he doesn't think there's time to draw back and throw them. Therefore, they shoot snap passes and offer a constant threat.

"Sid Scarborough, Atlanta boy, is doing a fine job. But we always liked to work two quarterbacks. Joe Stewart is injured, however, and Osmo Smith, a sophomore I was counting on to help out, broke a toe last week.

"That leaves us with only one exexperienced quarterback. As I said, Scarborough is doing a nice job. He's a suave youn man.

"John Paul Tipper, a halfback, is ut with injuries, too. We had to leave him and Stewart and Smith at home. That hurts us offensively,"

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—(A)-Cotton lost about 25 cents a bale today after holding at net gains for most of the session. An increase in hedge selling in the last hour and withdrawal of the trade and speculative support that characterized early dealings were mainly responsible for the drop. The market started off at small net advances on improved cables from dation and a decline in the stock market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(P)—Advances in cotton met more active hedge selling today and prices turned easier, influenced by October liquidation and a decline in the stock market.

December sold off from 12.07 to 11.96, closing at the low with final prices 3 to 6 points net lower except. October, which was 22 lower.

The market opened 5 to 7 points higher in sympathy with Liverpoot cables and on trade and foreign buying. The best levels for the day were touched on the opening call. While demand was fairly active, hedge seling was in heavier volume throughout the greater part of the session. Prices slowly eased under the weight of these offerings, closing at or within a few points of the bottom.

There was no change in the outside news, a good demand for textiles and spot cotton being reported.

a clean, varnishy smell. The rumble of wheels. And the mystery of the night outside. Thomas Wolfe told that story better than anyone else—the rush through the night—the flashing view of small towns-of lone lights in lonely houses-Of Time Anyhow, it's like old times.

THE WOUNDED TO PLAY. There is no use trying to fool the public. Old John Public likes to be fooled with happy endings to his movies. But he is suspicious of football injuries. And for good reason. He reads during the week that Joe Whosis has a probable concussion, housemaid's knee and lumbago. And yet on Saturday he sees Joe Whosis run for a touchdown and otherwise appear

This happens just often enough to make the public suspicious. What usually happens is that Joe Whosis just plays. He doesn't star. But the fact he plays makes the football-going-public doubt the veracity of the injury stories he reads in the papers.

Konemann will do. He spent all today in the Georgia Tech hospital. He has had a bad throat for a year or more. He had fever and was a sick boy today. He was sick on the train.

Yet he will play, barring a sudden change for the worse. The public will think it has been bunked. When it hasn't.

Mit Fitzsimons played with a bad leg in the Kentucky game. As late as Wednesday the leg was X-rayed to try to determine the extent of the bruise. Yet he will play again this week. And the public will think it has been bunked again. Lindsey is hurt. He likely will play.

None of them will be in the best of shape. None will have had practice. One or two may play well. If so it will be a

The football reporters haven't written lies nor bear stories to try and aid the psychology of the situation.

The football player can take a lot-and play. And then, too, modern training methods, use of heat and diathermic rays, hastens recovery. You haven't been kidded, dear friends. Even if it does seem so.

THE WORD FROM NAWTH CAROLINA.

A gentleman in Nawth Carolina writes me as follows: "Let's you and I sit down and talk this over. Wallace Wade doesn't take defeat well. He does on the exterior. He walks across the field, shakes hands and goes through the ritual.

"But inside he's burning up. And don't think he hasn't been working for Tech. They took Colgate in stride. They haven't had to open up yet. Their defeat of Davidson was significant. There's a great little team. It's won from North Carolina State, one of Duke's rivals. Yet Duke found the team easy.

"You know how Wade sets a defense. You know how his eams block and tackle. They won't be charging high as Kentucky must have done. They will be charging as hard as Tech.

"The kicking is twice as good as Tech's. That's important. They can kick Tech back against the Tech goal and keep Tech there.

Don't think this is another Kentucky game. Wade has been waiting for this one—with that blunt instrument." Well, well, and alack-a-day.

Maybe so. Maybe so. And just when I had my mind made up, too.

DROP DURING WEEK and see how this tonsilitis comes out. This thing is getting on It is my idea Tech is going to take this one. But let's wait WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—

Loans on securities to brokers and dealers, held by weekly reporting members in New York city, were reported to have totaled $979,000,000 for the week ending yesterday, a decrease of the second securities of the second s

He knew that sinister eyes were upon him, so there was no longer any need of trying to conceal him-self. He struck out boldly in search of the tumbled pile that might serve these creatures as a temple. There he expected to find the fabulous

Once he heard a sly sound in a tangle of stones and jungle growth at his side. He darted toward it, but its author had vanished, as if swallowed up by the earth. Tarzan decided then not to go in search of trouble; but rather to prepare himself

He had not long to wait. Then his eyes fell upon a weird structure which he believed might be the temple, he advanced toward it, eager to probe its mysteries. But as he threaded his way among the fallen stones, a great and ominous shadow rose up behind him!

Commenting on operation of the undistributed surplus tax, Doughton said he had received information that many concerns already were beginning to distribute their profits in the form of dividends.

While officials of the joint committee declined to discuss for publication merits of the complaints against the tax on surpluses, they expressed belief privately it might be possible to work out an exemption on expenditures made for expansion of physical plant facilities.

They indicated, however, they would be opposed to including certain other forms of expansion, such as increased capitalization for investment houses, in such exemptions. They were equality cold toward the suggestion for exampting debt payments, contending it would be possible for firms to create unnecessary debts and pay them off merely to avoid the tax.

Of course there's a reason why meat loaf has been so popular as the meat for serving a large group. It is made from the less-demanded cuts of meat that are available in quantities in any community, any time. Meat loaf is easily and quickly prepared and served; it's out of the way before the last minute rush and it is always well liked.

However, a meat loaf every time there is a community supper just isn't the thing, especially when there are plenty of other meats which might be chosen. Of course not every meat will
